WHEELING DELEGATES RETURN

And Speak Highly of the Entertainment Provided by the Kentuckians. The 1900 Meeting of the Association is to be Held in Cincinnati-Important and far Reaching Resolution Were Adopted.

Congressman B. B. Dovener and Messrs. Hullihen Quarrier, Howard Hazlett, Lawrence E. Sands and Morris Horkheimer last evening returned from Louisville, where they attended the sn-Improvement Association. When seen thusiastic in apeaking of the warmth visitors were the recipients of at the hands of the Kentuckians, whose noted hospitality found on this occasion a notable exemplification. During the meeting there was a repetition of the scene at the Wheeling meeting last year, when the delegates arose in their seats one after another and announced liberal contributions in support of the association. Cincinnati carried off the prize when association.

Cincinnati carried off the prize when it came to contesting for the next meeting place of the association. Paducah wighed to entertain the next meeting, but, when Hon J. H. Allen, president of the Cincinnati chamber of commerce, held forth the advantages of the Queen City, and when Colonel E. P. Wilson, on behalf of the Municipal Lengue, repeated the invitation, nothing was left Paducah but to withdraw, and Cincinnati was selected by acchamation. The meeting Thursday was an interesting one, and closed the two days' session of the association. A resolution was adopted, which outlines the work of the association for the coming year. The resolution asks Congress to appropriate enough money to build locks and dams to make the Ohio continuously navigable to its mouth. States and cities along the river are asked to legislate to reduce wharf charges.

The continuous contract system is indorsed, and Congress is asked to adopt this system on locks and dams between Pittisburgh and Marietta not yet contracted for. A protest is made against the encroachments on the channel of the Ohio, and Congress is also urged to prevent them. Congress is also urged to prevent them. Congress is also urged to prevent them. Congress is also urged to prevent them southwest pass of the Missispip river, from New Orleans to the guil. The resolutions commended the committee in spounting a committee to procure the construction of a dam below Cincinnati, and also commended the committee in securing the passage of a joint resolution in Congress 'authorizing a survey for a dam.

The resolutions recommended the immediate construction of a dam below Cincinnati, and also commended the committee in securing the passage of a joint resolution in Congress 'authorizing a survey for a dam.

Reep the channels in the Onlo River clear.

Coptain Anderson took up the disputed question of the probable effect which movable dams had on the health of the community above. In support of this he quoted as an example the Davia Island dam, seven miles below Pittsburgh. This was, he said, the finest example of this kind of a dam in the country. The effect of this dam, as determined by experts, was that the slit in the sewage dropped to the bottom and caused no infurious effects, and, whenever the wickets were opened, this slit was secured from the bottom of the river.

whenever the wickets were opened, this silt was secoured from the bottom of the river.

Mr. Albert S. Bettinger, of Cincinnati, presented the report of the committee on membership. He set forth the need for the dissemination of information in regard to the true object and work of the Ohio Valley. Improvement Association, and stated that if the work done and projected was fully understood by intelligent residents of the cities, towns and villages of the states already represented in the association there would be no difficulty in gaining a largely increased membership. To this end he offered resolutions providing that a circular be prepared and sent out to every newspaper in each town along the Ohio and tributary streams, which should give in detail the objects of the association and the work already accomplished, and that the editors be asked to publish this in whatever form they desired; that one man be appointed in each town to give information of the work of the sacciation.

Early in the day Colonel Berry and Commodore Laidley had a heated discussion as to the bridge over the Kentucky fiver. Colonel Berry accused Commodore Laidley of being opposed to all improvements, except those which would benefit his boats, and this Comwould benefit his boats, and this Com-

Laidiey offered a resolution requiring the bridge to be one hundred feet high, and more sharp Illis followed, but Capt. Dravo, of Pittsburgh, and others, suggested that the resolution be withdrawn, which was done.

Captain Bettinger proposed plans for increasing the membership and increasing the usefulness of the organization. This services of Major Bixby and Colonel Wilson have been invaluable to the convention and they were given a vote of thanks. In the afternoon a trip to inspect the falls improvements was made and lunch was served.

The resolutions, which were presented by Congressman Dovener, of this city, were passed unanimously, as follows:

Appreciating the wisdom of Congress in ilberally providing for the radical and permanent improvement of the Ohio river and its navigable to by the United States engineer, process of execution, we carnestly urge such additional appropriations as will ensure continuous and energetic work until regular and reliable navigation is secured on this great freight-producing water way. We recommend that Congress be requested to appropriate a sufficient amount, immediately available, authorizing a survey of the Ohio tiver, with a view to the construction of locks and dams so far as may be necessary to secure uninterrupted navigation to ig mouth, at Cairo.

Resolved. That in the improvement is the Ohio river between Pittsburgh and Marjetta, for which surveys have been made and plams adopted by the United States board of engineers, it is the judgment of this convention that such of the dams not yet authorized to be placed under continuous contract, and contemplated by those plans, should be authorized and constructed at such points as will meet promptly and effectually sid the hostness in the plans and contract of the continuous contract, and contemplated by those plans, should be authorized and constructed at such points as will meet promptly and effectually sid the hostness in the plans are now serious obstacless to navigation.

We earnestly protest against the continued ecroechments upon the channel way of the Ohio river, which render navigation difficult and hasardous, and urge upon Congress the imperative necessity of preyenting all such encroachments which seriously threaten the safe navigation of the Ohio river.

Resolved, When the Ohio river improvement has been made upon the plan recommended by the United States engineers to the mouth of Sair tiver, Ky, we are in favor of and urge line improvement of Sair-sineers of the United States in Congress in H. Dec. 124, 10 Congress, 1st nession.

The sneineers in charge of the survey of the valley of the Big Sandy river having favorably reported upon the construction of a series of locks and dams-for said water course, we urge that Congress at its next session take such actions as may be necessary to carry out the recommendations of the engineers.

Resolved, With the large increase of commerce which will inevitably and immediately follow the permanent improvement of call and the permanent improvement of the construction of a lock and movable dam at such poin research to the gulf.

THE METAL MARKETS Reviewed by the Manufacturer-Situation Stronger, The situation in iron and steel seem: to grow stronger, says the Ohio Valler. Manufacturer. The demand shows not the slightest sign of being any nearer satisfied than it was six months ago, a that there is a pretty general settling down to the belief that lower prices are out of the question, and that it will be good policy to cover requirements on best terms obtainable.

Pig Iron.—The situation is very strong, but there is no special urgency in the demand, as liberal provision has STRICTLY year. For next year's deliveries sellers are disposed to hold for very full prices, as there are no indications of a lessened demand, while there is a certainty of a considerably increased cost, Sales are about an average of what has been figstrength which indicates complete con idence in current quotations. Billets.—Sales at $42 for this year's Billeta,—Sales at $42 for this year's deliveries, but a little less could be done for 1900. There is considerable dickering going on, but no business of any magnitude has been closed thus far, although $40 would be shaded to good buyers for the 17st half of next year. Finished Material,—There is no abatement in the demand and no prospect of it in the near future. Premiums can be had on nearly everything on the list, providing deliveries can be guaranteed, but in most cases mill owners decline to guarantee anything except that they will do the best they can.

Old Material.—Prices are very strong, and look like going still higher. Some articles, such as iron nails, command "out of sight" prices, $30 and now like going still higher. Some articles, such as iron nails, command "out of sight" prices, $30 and now like going still higher. Some steel stranger, $20 to $24, and wrought turnings at $15.
